

Exhibit A: Continuent Standard Terms and Conditions

1. Term.

a. Term. Subject to early termination as provided in Section 2, the Agreement will remain in effect for so long as Continuent is performing Services pursuant to the Statement of Work, during the term of the Continuent Tungsten Clustering license pursuant to Exhibit B, or for so long as support services are being provided by Continuent pursuant to Exhibit C (whichever period is longest).

2. Termination.

a. Termination by Continuent. Continuent may terminate this Agreement: [a] without cause, upon not less than ninety (90) days written notice; [b] immediately, in the event that Customer fails to cure a material breach within thirty (30) days after receipt of notice of breach.

b. Termination by Customer. Customer may terminate the Agreement on written notice to Continuent, provided that if a commercial license or support agreement is then in effect, termination shall be effective upon the expiration of the then-current term for such license or support agreement.

c. Effect of Termination. Upon expiration or termination of the Agreement, all licenses granted hereunder shall terminate and Customer shall promptly (i) discontinue all use of the Licensed Software (as that term is defined in Exhibit B), (ii) erase all copies of the Licensed Software from Customer's computers, (iii) return to Continuent or destroy all copies of the Licensed Software, Continuent Property, and Continuent Materials on tangible media in Customer's possession or control, and certify in writing to Continuent that it has fully complied with these requirements, and (iv) pay to Continuent all amounts owed to Continuent through the date of expiration or termination.

d. Survival. Obligations and rights under the Agreement (including its exhibits and attachments), which by their nature would reasonably continue beyond the termination or expiration will survive such termination or expiration (including all accrued rights to payment and remedies for breach), and those Sections entitled "Billing and Payment," "Confidential Information," "Continuent Property," "Proprietary Rights" "Indemnification," "Disclaimers of Warranties," "Limitation of Liability," "Audits," "Governing Law & Dispute Resolution," and "Other Provisions."

3. Billing and Payment.

a. Consulting Fees: Unless otherwise agreed upon in writing, Continuent will invoice Customer immediately for the fixed consulting fees upon signing of the Agreement. The initial invoice will be payable immediately upon of Customer's receipt thereof.

b. Subscription Fees. Continuent will invoice Customer for subscription fees payable under Exhibit B. Unless otherwise provided in a Customer purchase order with payment terms expressly accepted by Continuent in writing, these invoices will be payable on net 30 days terms.

c. Expenses. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, Continuent will be entitled to reimbursement for all reasonable ordinary and necessary expenses, based on Customer's standard policies, directly incurred in connection with the performance of consulting services provided hereunder, such as the costs of travel and lodging incurred in connection with "on-site" services or training ("Expenses"). At Customer's request, Continuent will provide documentary evidence for Expenses.

d. All fees under this Agreement are nonrefundable. Continuent's fees are exclusive of all taxes, levies, or duties imposed by taxing authorities, and Customer shall be responsible for payment of all such taxes, levies or duties. Invoices are payable on receipt, and overdue 30 days thereafter. Overdue amounts will bear interest at 1 ½% per month. All payments made under this Agreement will be in United States Dollars. If Customer's account is 30 days or more overdue, in addition to any of its other remedies, Continuent reserves the right to suspend any Services provided to Customer, without liability to Continuent, until such amounts are paid in full.

e. Upon completion of professional services, Continuent may send Customer a service confirmation acknowledgement (the "Confirmation Notice"). Unless Customer returns the Confirmation Notice specifying bona fide deficiencies in the services contracted for (e.g. the failure to provide required deliverables) within seven (7) days of receipt, all such services will be deemed to have been completed and performed in a satisfactory fashion, with all fixed fee consulting days fully utilized.

4. Confidential Information. Unless the parties have entered into a separate confidentiality or non-disclosure agreement with respect to information disclosed by the parties in the connection with this Agreement, the following provisions shall apply:

a. Definition. "Confidential Information" means information that is either a trade secret, non-public, confidential or proprietary, and materials that contain, are derived from, or otherwise reflect such information, whether furnished orally, in writing or electronically by one party (the "Disclosing Party") to the other party (the "Receiving Party") either by or at the direction of the Disclosing Party. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, Confidential Information includes drawings, designs, business plans and proposals, ideas and prototypes, the terms and conditions of this Agreement, and all confidential information provided by customers. All Confidential Information shall remain the property of the Disclosing Party or its customer.

b. General Obligations. Each Receiving Party shall: (a) maintain all Confidential Information in confidence; (b) exercise at least the same degree of care to safeguard the Confidential Information that it uses to safeguard its own confidential information (but no less than reasonable care); (d) not, directly or indirectly, disclose the Confidential Information to any third party, except for contractors with a need to know or who have access to Continuent's internal web-based systems and tools, unless expressly authorized by the Disclosing Party in a prior signed writing; (e) use Confidential Information solely for the purpose of performing under this Agreement, and not for the benefit of Receiving Party or any third party; and (f) not copy, duplicate, replicate, decompile or reverse engineer in any manner whatsoever (whether physically, electronically, in writing or otherwise), in whole or in part, any part of the Confidential Information without the prior written consent of the Disclosing Party.

c. Notice. The Receiving Party will immediately notify the Disclosing Party in writing of any unauthorized disclosure of Confidential Information. Upon the Disclosing Party's request, the Receiving Party shall promptly redeliver to the Disclosing Party, or destroy at the Disclosing Party's direction, all material in any media or format that contains, reflects or is in any way derived from, the Confidential Information (including notes, summaries, copies or other reproductions, in whole or in part), except that data on backups may wait until it is overwritten via normal backup rotations. The redelivery or destruction of Confidential Information shall be certified by the Receiving Party in writing to the Disclosing Party, and shall not in any way relieve the Disclosing Party of its obligations of confidentiality.

d. Exclusions. The Receiving Party shall have no obligation concerning information that the Receiving Party can demonstrate through documentary evidence: (a) is generally known to the public except as a result of acts by the Receiving Party; (b) is independently developed by the Receiving Party; (c) is disclosed to the Receiving Party by a third party with no duty of confidentiality to the Disclosing Party; or (d) is required to be disclosed by lawful process, provided that the Receiving Party provides the Disclosing Party with timely notice to enable the Disclosing Party to seek a protective order or otherwise object.

e. Responsibility for Breach. Each party shall be responsible for any action or omission by any employee or agent of such party, which would be a breach of any terms of this Section as if such person were a party hereto. Each of the parties represents and covenants to the other that its employees and agents have been and shall be advised of their obligations concerning confidentiality of information that has been provided hereunder.

f. Injunctive Relief. The parties agree that the terms of this Section headed "Confidential Information" are reasonable and necessary to protect the Confidential Information and the parties and their clients, that irreparable injury will result if a Receiving Party breaches this Section, and that in the event of a Receiving Party's actual or threatened breach of this Section, Continuent will have no adequate remedy at law. The Receiving Party therefore agrees that the Disclosing Party may take any necessary action to compel specific performance, or enjoin any violation, of this Section.

5. Proprietary Rights.

a. Customer acknowledges that Continuent owns, may hold, or may develop (independently or in connection with the Agreement) proprietary documentation, software, techniques and processes (collectively, "Continuent Property"). Continuent may use Continuent Property in providing the Services under this Agreement, and may deliver Continuent Property to Customer for use in connection with this Agreement. Except as otherwise set forth in this Section, all Continuent Property is and shall remain at all times the sole property of Continuent, and may not be used, disclosed, reproduced or distributed by Customer in any manner without Continuent's express prior written consent, or as expressly provided in the Agreement.

b. Subject to any rights to use expressly granted to Customer hereunder, any and all proprietary rights in Continuent Property utilized or made available by Continuent in the course of the performance under this Agreement shall remain vested exclusively in Continuent, and Continuent's performance hereunder does not grant to Customer any rights in copyrights or other proprietary rights including patents, trademarks, trade and business secrets or know-how embodied in the Services or any Continuent Property.

c. Unless otherwise agreed by the parties in writing (e.g. in a Statement of Work), all Work Product which is related to Continuent Property (e.g. modifications to Continuent software, and related documentation) shall remain the sole property of Continuent. Work Product which is unrelated to Continuent Property (e.g. modifications to Customer's existing database software) shall be the property of Customer upon delivery to Customer, and Continuent hereby assigns to Customer and its successors and assigns, without further consideration, the entire worldwide right, title and interest to all such Work Product.

d. "Work Product" means all inventions and works of authorship, including improvements, processes, discoveries, ideas, technologies, know how, work product, concepts, material, disclosures, software programs, computer language, programming aids, compilations, documentation, or any other intellectual property, conceived, developed, originated, fixed or reduced to practice by Continuent (individually or jointly with Customer) in connection with any Services performed by it for Customer.

6. Continuent Software.

a. Software Licenses. Customer will be granted a license to use specified Continuent software pursuant to the terms of Exhibit B (Continuent Tungsten License). For purposes of this Agreement, any Work Product owned by Continuent and delivered to Customer under the Agreement shall be deemed a part of the Licensed Software (as defined in Exhibit B). License, [w] the Berkeley software design (BSD) license including Free BSD or BSD-style license, [x] the Sun Community Source License (SCSL), [y] an Open Source Foundation License (e.g., CDE and Motif Unix user interfaces), and [z] the Apache Server license). Certain Continuent Property may be available to the Customer as Open Source (e.g. Tungsten Replicator product is available pursuant to a Apache license). Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, all Open Source may be used by Customer pursuant to the terms of the applicable open source license agreement.

7. Indemnification.

a. Continuent Indemnity. Continuent shall defend, indemnify and hold Customer harmless against any loss or damage (including without limitation reasonable attorneys' fees) arising from claims, demands, suits, or proceedings ("Claims") brought against Customer by a third party alleging that the Services or any licensed Continuent Property (i) infringe the intellectual property rights of a third party, or (ii) breach an Open Source or any other third party license agreement under which Continuent is bound. Continuent shall have no obligations to Customer under this Section 7(a) to the extent such Claims arise from Customer's breach of this Agreement, from the combination of the Services with any other products, services, hardware or business processes if the alleged infringement would not have occurred absent such combination, or from Services undertaken to specifications provided by Customer, which specifications are the basis for the alleged infringement. Following Continuent's receipt of notice of any such claim, action or proceeding requiring indemnification, Continuent shall have the right to procure for Customer at Continuent's expense the right or license to use the Services as furnished hereunder, or to replace or modify the Services to render same non-infringing or non-misappropriating. This Section 7(a) sets forth Customer's sole remedy and Continuent's sole liability for any infringement of third party intellectual property rights.

b. Customer Indemnity. Customer shall defend, indemnify and hold Continuent harmless against any loss or damage (including without limitation reasonable attorneys' fees) incurred in connection with Claims made or brought against Continuent by a third party based on Customer's misuse or illegal use of the Service or licensed Continuent Property. Customer shall have no obligations to Continuent under this Section 7(b) to the extent such Claims arise from Continuent's breach of this Agreement.

c. Conditions for Indemnification. Each person entitled to indemnification hereunder (an “Indemnified Person”) must give prompt written notice of the claim to the other party (the “Indemnifying Party”) and provide assistance in connection with the defense of the claim as reasonably requested by the Indemnifying Party. The Indemnifying Party has the sole right to conduct the defense of each claim hereunder and all negotiations for its settlement or compromise but may not, without the prior written consent of the Indemnifying Party, enter into any compromise or settlement of a claim that imposes any obligation on or fails to release that party. After the Indemnifying Party assumes the defense of any claim, the Indemnifying Party is not liable for any legal or other expenses subsequently incurred by the Indemnified Person other than for the Indemnified Person’s reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred in providing any assistance requested by the Indemnifying Party.
