3. Support Severity Level Definitions. Summary of the support severity levels with initial response and resolution times:

- Urgent: initial response within an hour, Continuent provides Initial resolution or initial root cause analysis within 4 hours and will continue working continuously until resolved
- High: initial response within four (4) hours, resolution within (1) business day
- Normal: initial response within one (1) business day, best effort resolution
- Low: no guaranteed initial response interval, no guaranteed resolution time frame

Urgent - Represents a reproducible emergency condition [i.e. a condition that involves either data loss, data corruption, or lack of data availability] that makes the use or continued use of any one or more functions impossible. The condition requires an immediate solution. Continuent guarantees a maximum one (1) hour initial response time.

Continuent will continue to work with Customer until Customer's database is back in production. Continuent will provide either initial resolution or initial root cause analysis within four (4) hours. The full resolution and the full root cause analysis will be provided when available.

High - Represents a reproducible, non-emergency condition [i.e. a condition that does not involve either data loss, data corruption or lack of database availability] that makes the use or continued use of any one or more functions difficult, and cannot be circumvented or avoided on a temporary basis by Customer. Continuent guarantees a maximum four (4) hours initial response time and (1) business day to provide a work-around if a permanent solution is not readily available.

Normal - Represents a reproducible, limited problem condition that may be circumvented or avoided on a temporary basis by Customer. Continuent guarantees a maximum one (1) business day initial response time. Continuent commits to best effort engagement to fix the problem.

Low - Represents minor problem conditions or documentation errors that are easily avoided or circumvented by Customer. Additional request for new feature suggestions, which are defined as new functionality in existing product, are also classified as low severity level. Continuent does not guarantee any particular initial response time, or a commitment to fix in any particular time frame unless Customer engages Continuent for professional services work to create a fix or a new feature.
